

Ian Howard – Adviser

Ian Howard has been with Wellesley since 2006, and has been in the industry since 1990. People often ask Ian what he does: he says, simply, “I help people”.

With such a myriad of choices out there, Ian always asks clients what it is they do or don’t want to do, and takes it from there. Once he’s established a relationship with a client, he likes to keep in touch regularly to stay up to date with their interests – once they’re happy, he’s happy!

Out of hours

Ian is married to Julie, and they live in East Preston with their two sons, Louis and Harry, as well as Custard the dog. He would like to find some free time, however, being a Nottingham Forest fan, it’s probably best not to spend too much free time following sport!

Client Testimonials

We have known Ian since 2011. I received my pension at that time and needed some advice on how best to invest the cash lump sum I was to receive.

He has also advised me regarding ISAs and Trusts. Ian has a very friendly and approachable attitude towards his clients and has sought to understand the whole of the family circumstances prior to offering any financial advice. Now the whole family are clients of Ian.

We have regular reviews of our investments with him and the administration support from Wellesley is extremely good. I would certainly recommend Ian to any prospective clients.

Bob & Sue Dowding – Retired

I have known Ian since early 2008 when Wellesley took over as my financial advisers. Almost immediately my position improved, following clear concise advice. Ian explains everything very clearly and in simple terms that you can easily understand. I've always found Ian to be available and on hand when I've needed his advice and he has become a trusted confidant as well as a trusted friend.

I would highly recommend Ian to anyone needing financial advice or assistance. His continued commitment and sound advice have given me confidence for which I will always be most appreciative.

Paul Wolstencroft – Head of Global Logistics

Ian always has a very polite and friendly approach, making you feel very relaxed and you know that he has your best interests in mind. He has always given clear advice and information to me who might not always know the mechanics of financial security.

Nick Wright – Retired

Ian has provided valuable and cogent financial advice.

The information provided has been apposite, timely and complete; but tempered with realism so that we have not incurred unnecessary expenditure. Furthermore, I held personal pension plans for almost 14 years and, having transferred them to Wellesley, now feel that my interests are being looked after at last.
